#LINEUP11

For the first time this season we were on the brink of asking for a volunteer to miss out when we had 17 players available. That was until Geoff's steely blue eyes got some literal steel in them in a work accident and had to opt out. Even with a full 16, many were still carrying injuries whilst Stew and Andy were plagued with man flu. Gaining further injury became a concern when we were informed we'd be wearing the white jerseys. Dust allergies aside, a few of the boys had ended up with bleeding nipples when playing in these in the past, yes bleeding nipples! Unfortunately Boz left his nipple guards at home but Julia was a savior to hand out band-aids to those in need. Praise be! We also needed some black tape to create makeshift shirt numbers as they did not go up to #19. Why the white jerseys? Well because we were up against Sargey's Wyoming 35DN2 team, and being designated the home team, we had to wear the alternate strip. This inconvenience aside, some of their players had the audacity to join us in our change room! We did try to send them to the sheds at Maidens Brush to no avail.

It's always disorientating when your opposition are dressed exactly as your teammates so a few double takes - and visits to the chiro for neck pain on Tuesday - were needed throughout the game to make sure you passed it to who you'd intended. Otherwise, if it was like the Wyong game, maybe it would work in Stew's favour. The only player for us who was attired normally was goalie Rob and that was also a strange but welcome sight as we hadn't seen him on the field since Game #1. It was perfect timing for him to return from his shoulder injury as Nige was absent this weekend. A huge thank you to Nige for filling in these past few weeks.

With jokes made from each side that their opposing sides were from a filthy club, it was time to get started. Despite a 12-point gap between us and them, this was not a side to take lightly with quality across the park. This was not a David vs Goliath game despite what it looked like when 4ft Mark Wallace was "marking" (no pun intended) 7ft Scotty James. It was another slow start for us and they were dominating the middle but a quick counter saw us gain the ascendancy. Chris Smith put through a beautiful ball for McGarvey who with pace and quick maneuvering drilled in into the net at the clubhouse end. Andy almost made it two with a shot that sailed just wide. There were plenty of shots that went straight to their keeper until O'Connor - who'd been working nicely down the left edge with Paul - made a solid run and cut it back to Chris in the middle. Perfectly composed, Chris smashed it into the net to give us a healthy 2 nil lead going into the break.

Our second half performances tend to be better but we never seemed to get out of low gear as the game continued. Concerns peaked when they hit back with a goal to narrow the gap and injuries to Neale and Lawesy saw them retire early. Stew had a good chance to increase the lead after a good charge towards goal only for his kick to find the keeper whilst Andy hit the post after a nice cross from McGarvey. Those two would combine for the third goal. O'Connor sent Andy up the wing who in turn sliced it across the goalmouth where McGarvey connected perfectly to pick up his brace. And well what would it be without Tim Cohen not scoring on Field 1? In both games previously this season he'd scored at the Girl Guides Hall end... and today that streak would continue. Starting with Wallace (he reminded me to tell you all), he passed it onto Boz who stormed down the middle of the park and slotted it through to Cohen who wasted no time in drilling it the net from well outside the box. Was quite a statement in what turned out to be the final minute of the game. The set up certainly helped Boz get the bulk of the votes in MVP today having made the best tackle of the game earlier that half. O'Connor was a menace to the opposition as usual and he'll be sorely missed for the next couple of games as he'll be away due to work commitments. For the rest of us, it's a two-day turn around before our next day, a catch-up encounter against Toukley, thanks CCF. Special thanks to Luca and Jamie List who manned the bbq after the game.
