GAME #12

	HOME		AWAY		GROUND	DATE	TIME
0	 WYOMING	VS	 BUDGEWOI	4	Alan Davidson Oval 2 (Wyoming)	July 2	15:10

OUT OF THE FRYING PAN, INTO THE FIRE

Out of the frying pan, into the fire. With almost a full compliment of players, including the return of Luca Scuri from injury, hopes were high that we could at least get a point out of competition leaders, Budgewoi. The boys in yellow, erm white, fought hard. Down only one nil at half time, confidence remained that more counter attacks and a change to formation may get them back in the game ... it was not to be. Budgewoi showed why they're leading the competition putting Wyoming to the sword with tenacity, speed and accuracy, netting three more goals in the second stanza. Despite the result, the Tigers are still clinging to 5th spot and with six games remaining are still a chance of making the Top 4.

THE FIELD 2 CURSE

When the draw was released at the beginning of the season, one pleasant surprise was that all home games - with the exception of one - would be played on Alan Davidson Field 1 ... today, was that exception. Yes Field 2 has not been a happy stomping ground in recent times. Heavy defeats, scuffles, injuries, send offs, all culminating to the point that some of the team believe this field is cursed. When Gregg turned up early and learnt where the game was being played, he promptly did an about turn, muttered "bugger this" and went home (or maybe, more truthfully, had been called into work) ... There looked to be a way out though - Field 1 was not in use !! ... could it be switched at the last minute? But then came the question, did we want to? Could playing on a smaller field throw off Budgewoi who were used to a larger field at their own ground? Well no ... looking at the full-time scoreline, it clearly didn't affect them !! So was the curse in affect today? Heavy defeat - tick; scuffles - tick. a minor one between Scott and Budgewoi's Number 5; injuries - tick. whilst Luca's calf thankfully held out and Chris didn't risk playing due to a groin strain last weekend, there was one major injury - that was to the game ball. It took quite the beating from Aaron every time it slipped into the back of the net; and send offs -tick. Budgewoi's Number 5 picked up two yellow cards in quick succession. Scott congratulated him on the first and well, No. 5 wasn't particularly gracious on the praise. A quick push and he was on his way ... well eventually, he needed a little lie down first. Earlier, after colliding in a high challenge, he appealed to the ref he'd been fouled and bemoaned he had to work Monday ... but his teammates promptly reminded him that being a school teacher he was now on school holidays for the next couple of weeks anyway. Burn!!

A hard day at the office for AARON ... and that ball was punished !!

Fury and hijinks on the playground

One last scuffle - and a lie down - for No. 5

MARK'S MISSING JERSEY

There were signs that perhaps someone should've spoken up and demanded a Field 1 game. The curse seemed to be afoot when Mark Wallace received his No. 4 yellow jersey and placed it onto a chair outside the clubhouse ... mere seconds later, it had vanished!! Marky was convinced one of his teammates had hidden it. He checked the usual good hiding spots - Dave's headgear, nope! ... Scott's long beard, nope (he'd trimmed it) ... Frank's toupee, nope (he doesn't own one)! And then it came to him, the obvious culprit - prankster Flanno ... but no he hadn't touched it (or so we're told). Sadly, it was looking like poor Mark would have to wear another number until it was decided that Budgewoi's yellow jerseys clashed too closely to Wyoming's. Last encounter, our opposition had kindly offered to wear an alternate strip ... this time it was our turn. And so out came the white jerseys. Marky was happy, at least he could wear No. 4. Where Mark's jersey disappeared to remains a mystery. Wherever it is, Brad in particular hopes it will be found soon. Until then, he remains nervous of being at the mercy of Mark's wrath. Why, you ask? Well, after brandishing out some sideline heckling Mark's way during the game, Mark was then seen attempting to peel off the '1' from Brad's Number 14 jersey ... thankfully he couldn't reach it from the Mead's clothes line during this past week!

BIZARRO WORLD

Field 2! White jerseys! Tony, Luca, Ross and Scott all fit and ready to play on the same game day! Yes, this was topsy-turvy start to the proceedings. As the ref called for the captains to convene, hardly any of the team had warmed up on the field and confusion reigned on who was even in the starting line-up. Andy was called to represent the team for the coin toss. He won it and called out to Aaron asking which direction he wanted to face. Andy was surprised that Aaron said to remain despite being disadvantaged by the sun for the first half ... sure enough, at the end of the game, a squinty Aaron said to Andy, "just ignore me next time". Confusion endured when Flanno's supportive chants of "go whites" from the sideline fell on deaf ears as it hadn't sunk in what he was talking about, especially when Budgewoi were chanting "go yellows". Flanno also failed in his attempts to get the ref to overturn the first goal when he noticed Budgewoi had two players wearing the No. 10 jersey, worth a try buddy. Another bizarro thing about today - Flanno did not get a card in a game where the referee pulled up even the slightest foul contact and dissent.

ATTACKING CHANCES

The best chance Wyoming had of finding the net were: Andy's shot early in the first half and Frank's header in the second. Stevie G had put through a beautiful cross. Andy managed to control it and hit it on target ... sadly it hit the corner of the upright & crossbar and bounced in front of Budgewoi's keeper for an easy pick-up. For Frank, he managed contact with his noggin from a corner kick. Sadly, Budgewoi's widest player was there to stop it from squeezing between him and the upright, so close!! Stew narrowly missed getting his head to an earlier corner kick and was muttering expletives immediately afterwards. Meady put in a great cross in the first half but neither Andy's head nor shoulder could connect. Luca showed how much he has been missed with some quality service, particularly one to Scott out on the left side. Scott's shot though had too much weight on it as did his free kick in the second half. Welcome to Field 2!! He and Andy combined well on the edge that allowed for a perfect through ball for Meady in the 18-yard box. Meady's first touch let him down. In the ensuing madness, Scott managed another shot only for the backside of Meady to get in the way... D'oh! Just one of those days unfortunately.

ANDY's shot - from a STEVIE G cross - comes agonisingly close to squeezing into the top left corner

FRANK connects with ANDY's corner kick and almost sneaks it past the inside post.

SCOTT, ANDY and MEADY combine for one of their last chances of a consolation goal.

MIGHTHY IN DEFENCE

Aaron clearly earned the three points today with some solid work yet again at the back. Ross was the usual workhorse as well. When Budgewoi's number 5 had managed to get pass Aaron it looked certain a goal was on the cards. Ross rushed back to put enough pressure on the attacker. Whilst the shot was taken, it hit the upright! Stevie G's highlight came when he managed just the slightest of flicks to push the ball wide from a pursuing attacker who was well and truly on his way to a one-on-one encounter with Aaron.

AARON at his best.

ROSS rushes back in an attempt to block the shot ... the upright does the rest.

More defensive magic from ROSS

STEVIE G takes charge at the wall, clears the threat and saves FORDO from a sore arse !

THE RETURN OF THE SCURI

After an agonizing month of being sidelined, the football world was repositioned back onto its proper axis with the return of Luca. Julia made sure he was strapped and ready to get back out there.

WEEK 12 WRAP-UP

Tuggerah had their first win of the season with a 4-0 thrashing over Woongarra! The Wildcats missing the opportunity to jump to 5th spot. Budgewoi, Wyong and Killarney continued their winning ways. We are now two thirds into the season.

WEEK 13 PREVIEW

The Round 10 catch-up games take place this weekend. It's do-or-die for Wyoming and East Gosford, both desperate for the three points and narrowing the gap from 4th to a point (if Budgewoi defeat Kanwal of course). Tuggerah are at home to Wyong whilst Killarney makes the trip to Hamlyn Terrace as they continue their impressive run.
